This website also covers in-depth grammar terminology, e.g., what is an "object" or a "transitive verb." Tests are also available for revision (Click on "hints" if you are unsure of your answers).

语法		平均分	3.0
主谓一致	3	Tip! Articles with abbreviations- "a" The article "a" is used before abbreviations that start with a consonant sound. For example, a BAC of 0.2 g/dL; a URI recommended vaccination. In the second example, the first letter of the abbreviation URI makes a "you" sound, which is a consonant sound. Therefore, the article "a" is used even though the letter "u" is a vowel.

语言与文体规范		平均分	3.7
标点符号	3	Tip! Period and comma placement with quotation marks If the punctuation mark is a part of the quote itself, then the quotation mark is placed after the period or comma. This is usually the case with direct quotes. Incorrect: 'Today, there is a need to extract more precise criteria.' Correct: 'Today, there is a need to extract more precise criteria.'
